It creates traffic to your

Website which means business, but the sites also allow you to monitor the business they bring you."

Same Ceiling Fan Air Filters; New Antibacterial Treatment

Our ceiling fan air filters have been our best selling product for years now, but we have recently improved them. The most important feature of the Ceiling Fan Air Filter is its ability to remove unwanted particles from the air while the ceiling fan circulates the air for comfort and now the filters have the added benefit of antibacterial action to combat cold and flu germs. The Ceiling Fan Air Filters with antibacterial treatment have self adhesive strips that attach to the top side of ceiling fan blades. They trap and kill airborne germs and bacteria that accompany the dust and dirt circulating with the air as the ceiling fan operates. The filters are effective both in summer and winter, keeping home air healthy and safe. Our ceiling fan air filters are available on our Website or you can purchase them at local retailers such as Lowe's, Home Depot, Wal-Mart or The Container Store.

Huge Savings For Pet Owners

The Poof Filtration System for cat litter boxes remains to this date, one of our largest mail and web order items. This product eliminates that foul smell that normally comes with the litter box.

Currently, this product is only offered straight from our warehouse due to the change in the market place's cat litter boxes.

When the Poof System first hit the market place, litter boxes were different than the ones on the market today at major retailers such as Wal-Mart and Pet Smart.

Based on this evolution of design,

BioStrike has been forced to adapt our product to be compatible with the current litter boxes. As we make way for the new, we must get rid of the old.

The Poof Systems originally retailed for $39.95. We are now offering them at a discounted price of $29.95. The best part? You will still be able to use the replacement cartridges with the old design as well as the new design.

The new design will hopefully hit the marketplace early next year.

Reduce Odor and Shed Hair In Your Home and Office

Does your dog's pet bed smell? Do you have pet hair all over your house from routine shedding?

Let's face it. Where there are pets, there are odors. It can be from their food or outside odors they bring in. They also have a natural build up of body oils that produce an odor. The pet's bed is the catching place for these odors!

Slip in a Bed Magic Odor Removing insert into the pet bed and those annoying odors will disappear!

The insert does not mask odors with a fragrance. The odor control hinges on a two-part system.

First: Activated Carbon. With million of micro pockets, this natural, chemical free material acts like a sponge to absorb odors.

Secondly, A germ-fighting cover; Anti-Microbial Fiber. This material controls bacteria growth to minimize odors.

Make the shed hair disappear by placing a package of our ceiling fan air filters with new

"I feel the Ceiling Fan Filters provide some help considering we live in the middle of corn & soybean fields. I have allergies and take injections as well as oral meds.....thank you for providing some real help to those of us with allergies."

antibacterial treatment on each ceiling fan in your home and your pet problems will be solved and you can enjoy the pets without the smells and shedding.

Improve Your Indoor Air Quality

Whether it is your pet or the flowers blooming outside that make you sneeze and your eyes water, the innovative Ceiling Fan

Filters, manufactured at BioStrike are a wonderful solution to airborne pollutants.

While air-conditioning filters are good at filtering out allergens and pollutants, they only work while the unit is running!

Biostrike's Ceiling Fan Filters work Continually while the fan is on to capture the allergens, smoke, dust, pollen, mold, and pet dander to create a cleaner indoor environment.

Currently the Ceiling Fan Filter is BioStrike's largest selling retail item and can be found in Lowe's, Home Depot, and Wal-Mart in the ceiling fan department.

The fan filters are retailed for a very reasonable price compared to many "air purifiers" on the market today and we think you will find them very affective!

"As an asthma sufferer, I am very concerned about cleaner indoor air quality. The fan filters are already making a difference!"
